

THE FRUITS OF LABOUR:

CELEBRATING 100 YEARS OF IRRIGATION RESEARCH AND THE CSIRO

COMMUNITY EXHIBITION

Saturday 21 September - Sunday 3 November

The Gallery invites community members to contribute to this project, which aims to honour the legacy of irrigation research and the CSIRO (Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation) in Griffith over the past century.

Former CSIRO Research Scientist, Dr Barrie Steer will be assisting the Art Gallery in the curation of a collection of historical resources for public exhibition during the exhibition.

To help tell the multifaceted story of the life and output of the CSIRO, Griffith, the Gallery and Dr Steer are making a callout to members of our community who may have worked for the CSIRO, or be a relative or friend of someone who worked for the CSIRO during its operations in Griffith between 1924 & 2016.

Objects and materials can be (but not exclusive to):

- Documents
- Photography (slides, black & white photographs)
- Technology
- Publications
- Personal effects
- Materials
- Garments

Artists and patrons of the Gallery eager to contribute to this important community exhibition are encouraged to reach out to Griffith Regional Art Gallery. The exhibition is also proudly supported by Griffith Pioneer Park Museum and the Gallery's wine sponsor Dee Vine Estate. For further information about the exhibition, please contact Griffith Regional Art Gallery.
