Griffith Festival of Gardens

Keep an eye out for
Tino's Tips
throughout the program!

The Griffith community is looking forward to hosting the 2013 Festival of Gardens. This year there are new gardens, a special guest Tino Carnevale with a passion for kitchen gardens and the fantastic Real Juice Company Citrus Sculptures featured in Banna Avenue. Griffith is a unique city with its multicultural community, friendly people, country freshness and special attractions.

This year we invite you to workshops with Tino Carnevale, the festival launch at the Griffith Regional Art Gallery and the festival dinner at the Griffith Leagues Club.

Bus tours are available so visitors can sit back, relax and enjoy the drive to the beautiful open gardens.

Chair Griffith Festival of Gardens Committee

Special Guest | Tino Carnevale

Born and bred in Tasmania, I have a background in Horticulture and Landscape Design but my main interests are Edible Plants and a hands on approach to home gardening. As well as being a presenter on ABC's Gardening Australia, I teach gardening skills to both adults and children and am a regular contributor to magazines and blogging website GardenDrum.

My garden is fairly new and so far it's been a lot of very enjoyable hard work. The front garden is nearly finished and the lawn and perennial border have just gone in. The chicken coop is built and filled with tenants and I have finished the potting shed. The fruit trees and berries are all planted and the vegie patch is in full swing. With that said there is still the pizza oven to build, a netting structure for the berries, a cubby house for my daughter Eden and a lot of digging still to do.

Tino's Tips

Use the threes Ps for your citrus. Peels - throw citrus peels around the base of your tree as this will help create a favourable soil condition. Potash - this helps to harden the plant up and lowers soil PH. Pee - yes, it is a very good source of nitrogen.

Gardens

1. Andrew & Lorna Craig: 'Joondoree', 2783 Boorga Rd, Lake Wyangan

In this garden hidden paths meander and form is more important than plant specimens. Tranquility reigns. The garden has grown and evolved over 12 years – there was no plan. Many species of birds visit each season. The property features a stunning driveway of liquid ambers, a forest walk, a paved vegie patch, a dry stone wall and areas to sit and view the surrounding hills.

Supporting: Griffith Men's Shed 🍴 | F, SA | Griffith Pony Club 🐾 SU, M

2. Joy & Bruno Plos: 'Belle Amour Garden' 5 Maegraith Place, Lake Wyangan

David Austin perfumed roses cascade over arbours and arches leading to a sunken rose garden complimented by many varieties of irises and perennials. This  $\frac{3}{4}$  acre award winning garden is surrounded by a peaceful bushland setting. Fish pond water fountain adds a touch of tranquillity. Exotic hybrid clematis entwine original structures built by Bruno, fruit trees espaliered frame the vegetable garden, abundance of trees, heritage shrubs, colour and texture make this a garden for all seasons. Hand painted porcelain and fine bone china on display and for sale in the all weather gazebo. Rare and exotic plants for sale.

Supporting: Griffith Social Dancers in aid of Local Charities | 🍴 🍴 | F, SA, SU, M

3. Julie & Patrick McMahon: 4 Elizabeth Drive, Lake Wyangan

This garden is predominately filled with Australian natives. The owners bought the weed filled block in 2004 and built the house and garden six years ago. Whilst labour intensive in the early years of clearing ground, structuring, weeding, planting and mulching it is much easier to manage at present with an annual prune, mulch and clear out. Kangaroos, the odd rabbit, gorgeous lizards and many birds inhabit this garden. There are flowers year round so there is always something to enjoy.

Supporting: Local Charity | ☕ | F, SA, SU, M

4. Patricia & Louis Sartor: Farm 2558 Leonard Road, Hanwood

Trish & Lou's garden is set amongst a citrus orchard near the village of Hanwood, south of Griffith. The one acre garden compliments the house with an Australian theme. It has been recently planted amongst established trees, forming paths and arches that exhibit many roses and cottage plants. A section of the rose garden holds many old classics. Items of Australiana are scattered throughout the garden, with Sunshine gates, a Furphy water tank and a rose arbour being amongst the features. A small exhibition of local artwork will also be on display and thus infuses the garden with a "heritage feel".

5. Marj & Mick Careri: ‘Rosewood Park on Stokes’ 2355A Stokes Road, Hanwood

Nestled in a spectacular vineyard setting, this meandering 3-acre park like garden with over 800 roses is a real Aladdin’s Cave. The use of foliage colour, textures and plants of every kind ensures that this garden is a picture in all seasons. Roses over arbours and arches and original structures are captivating. Formal rooms highlighted with statuary and stunning features including a ‘real’ dovecote over a pond, which is one of several water features. Gazebos and seating overlooking the dam with a windmill, provide for visitors to sit and enjoy this magnificent garden. A tropical garden and children’s play enclosure are included. Various stalls, music, plants & competitions.

6. Tori Horder & Lawrence Salvestrin: ‘Davit Farm’ Cashmere Road, Wiggelli

“Davit Farm” is a beautiful peaceful parklike garden of five acres. Mature English trees create summer shade and an exciting tapestry of greens, as the visitor strolls from garden room to garden room. Features include a formal lily pond, a small lake complemented by masses of colourful water iris, rambling roses and a Monet Bridge, a species rose garden, a white trunked forest and dry stone work. This rambling country garden invites you to sit and enjoy the vistas, serenity and space.

7. Pat Jones: 'Yambiana', 69 Halse Road, Yenda

'Yambiana' is situated on the banks of the Mirrool Creek east of Yenda. In 1992, well known gardening writer Shirley Stackhouse wrote of Pat Jones's 'Yambiana' Garden.

"The area is flat with a view of the hills in the distance in one direction, lawns wind around the original trees, which were important for shade and to give height to the garden. They have now been joined by more recent plantings of deciduous trees and shrubs, which are giving shelter from winds and creating vistas. All garden beds curve. Pat used the contours of garden beds and the differing heights of trees and shrubs to compensate for the flatness of the natural landscape." This is a beautiful large country garden which is watered using a solar power system. It also features a pond with dry stone wall surrounded by forest of gums.

8. Glenis & David Spence: 'Rothdene', 159 Rothdene Lane, Rankins Springs Road, Rankins Springs

Established in 1913 – Rothdene is a rural old style garden. Hundreds of native trees abound in the ten acre garden – that was a Cobb & Co. main stop in 1920s -1930s. The Spence's have planted and nurtured many flowering beds throughout. Interesting places to wander around include – fish pond, wishing well, live animals, display of olden time implements from Pioneer Park Museum, short walk to an area with an unknown grave. Tin animals are placed around, an old well has been dug out, folk style music, 200 knitted dolls display, a retro wares and collectables stall, plant sale and delicious food.
