

Griffith

15th - 18th October, 1993

Welcome to Griffith's Festival of Gardens

During October, Griffith's gentle Mediterranean climate combines with the abundant waters of the Murrumbidgee Irrigation Scheme to provide conditions just right for spring growth.

To celebrate this spring awakening the popular Griffith Festival of Gardens allows you to enjoy the very best of mother nature's beauty.

The gardens in Griffith each have something different to offer. Local gardeners have sown their unique personality into the gardens resulting in a diverse range of colourful offerings. These range from small town plots, larger acreage displays and farm gardens through to delightful country gardens.

At the same time the nearby Cocoparra National Park displays a magnificent mantle of wild flowers adding another colourful dimension to the Festival.

In addition to the gardens there is the informative and interesting Gardening Expo. Here you will find all manner of equipment, gardening aids and new season products on show and available for purchase. This comprehensive Expo compliments the Garden Festival making the Griffith experience a total gardening event.

Visitors to the Festival will discover there is a wide variety of other activities available in Griffith to see and enjoy.

Come and enjoy yourself at Griffith's springtime Festival of Gardens.
