

WHEN IS A CONSTRUCTION CERTIFICATE REQUIRED?

WHAT IS A CONSTRUCTION CERTIFICATE FOR BUILDING AND CIVIL WORKS?

A Construction Certificate (CC) for building or civil works certifies that the detailed construction plans and specifications for the development are consistent with the development consent and comply with the various legislations, including the Building Code of Australia, Australian Standards, RTA Guidelines, etc.

This certificate is required prior to commencing any works.

Building works - houses, shops, slabs, ramps, structural changes, etc

Civil works – new roads, kerb and gutter, works on water and sewer mains, etc

CAN I GAIN APPROVAL FROM SOMEONE OTHER THAN COUNCIL?

Council, with the exception of the State Government and the Land and Environment Court of NSW, is the only authority that can issue DA approval within Griffith.

However, once you have obtained your Development Consent, you have the choice of whom you engage as your Principal Certifying Authority (PCA) for the issue of the Construction Certificate (CC) for building works. Your PCA can be either Council or an Accredited Certifier. An Accredited Certifier can also issue a "Complying Development Certificate" .

Please note that a Construction Certificate (CC) for Civil Works may only be issued by Council, and only the nominated PCA can issue the Occupation Certificate.

WHO ARE ACCREDITED CERTIFIERS?

The Department of Planning can advise of the Accredited Private Certifiers within our area.
