SUMMIT

Anthony Albanese heads to NSW food bowl to join Telegraph's Bush Summit

Anthony Albanese and community leaders will meet in Griffith NSW town at the heart of the nation's food bowl next month to discuss the opportunities and struggles in the bush.

Anthony Albanese and community leaders will meet in a regional NSW town at the heart of the nation's food bowl to discuss the opportunities and struggles in the bush.

The Prime Minister will be the keynote speaker at the fourth annual Daily Telegraph Bush Summit, to be held in Griffith on August 26.

"The 2022 Daily Telegraph Bush Summit is an exciting opportunity to bring people together in the Griffith region after we were unable to gather in person during the height of the Covid pandemic," he said.

"I look forward to attending as Prime Minister to talk about the issues that matter to regional NSW and the opportunities that we can create together under the government I lead."

Premier Dominic Perrottet will also attend the Summit, where a range of issues including food supply chains, jobs, energy, regional development, services and infrastructure will be discussed.

Griffith Mayor Councillor Doug Curran said it was not only an exciting opportunity to host the Summit, but an incredible chance to demonstrate to the Prime Minister and the Premier of NSW what opportunities are in Griffith.

"It's wonderful to be able to welcome PM Anthony Albanese and Premier Dominic Perrottet here to Griffith for the Bush Summit, and to be able to show them first hand experience of all that Griffith is and offers," he said.

"I hope that this opens the door for more high profile politicians to visit our region and see the value in investing further in our community."

Daily Telegraph editor Ben English said it was a measure of the Bush Summit's "stature" that the Prime Minister had "cleared his calendar" to attend.

"In just four years, the Bush Summit has become a compulsory event on the calendar for anyone with a stake in rural and regional Australia," he said.

"We are very proud that the bush summit has brought about lasting and profound reforms that have bettered the lives of people in the country."

Mr English said he was "especially excited" to be holding the 2022 Summit in Griffith, in the "heart of the nation's food bowl".

"The timing couldn't be better as city residents grow increasingly aware of the critical role the bus plays to all our welfare," he said.

Albo's crucial bush visit - The Daily Telegraph Editorial

The fourth Daily Telegraph Bush Summit will this year be held in Griffith. The issues at hand are plainly urgent.

Australia is presently enduring all manner of food shortages and supply complexities, with regional NSW as a central focus.

Our state's regions are copping it from all directions. Dramatically unhelpful weather is prohibiting the growth of multiple crops, and increased fuel and power costs are eating into remote and regional budgets.

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese will be this year's keynote speaker. He is urged to concentrate on practical, quickly achievable solutions in dealing with the subjects raised.

The Bush Summit is not a venue for theoretical or hypothetical scenarios. It is a venue for straightforward questions and answers, directly dealing with important matters.

And, it is also a way to promote NSW's regions, which suffered serious tourism declines during the Covid pandemic.

On that topic, The Daily Telegraph again encourages coastal and city residents to explore our great state. Inland NSW is absolutely brilliant.

New Railway Street car park open for business

Construction has been completed on a new public car park located at the corner of Railway Street and Kooyoo Street (53 Railway Street) Griffith. The $625,000 project was funded by the Australian Government under the Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program and Griffith City Council ($582k and $43k respectively). The Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program supports local councils to deliver priority local road and community infrastructure projects across Australia, supporting jobs and the resilience of local economies to help communities bounce back from the COVID-19 pandemic. The new car park contains 48 car spaces, including 18 shaded spaces, two accessible spaces, drainage works and landscaping. Griffith Mayor, Councillor Doug Curran said the construction of the carpark is just another way Council is making living and working in Griffith easier. "Providing parking within the CBD has long been recognised as a priority for the community and I am pleased to be able to announce that work has been completed, and the car park is accessible to road users," said Councillor Curran. "We appreciate the patience of the community and hope this new car park, along with the other car park completed in Railway Street last year, eases the parking congestion in the CBD. "Griffith is thriving and this is just one of the many projects recently completed, underway or in the planning stages which will help grow Griffith into the future." Sussan Ley, Member for Farrer said the local funding from the Coalition Government was absolutely vital in keeping the MIA economy ticking over through the COVID shutdowns, allowing councils to put dollars into their priority projects. "Parking spaces along Banna Avenue in particular have grown very tight, so this is a much needed and close alternative for access to the main CBD," said Minister Ley.

Community Feedback sought for Scenic Hill

Griffith City Council is preparing a Draft Plan of Management for Scenic Hill and is asking the community to complete a survey to assist.

The Draft Plan of Management (PoM) includes the natural bushland areas of Scenic Hill (excluding formal areas of Dalton Park, Griffith Rodeo Grounds, The Pines Speedway, Griffith Golf Course, Griffith Gun Club and Pioneer Park Museum).

The survey aims to find out how frequently the community uses the Scenic Hill area, along with why, how and what concerns they may have with the locale.

Scenic Hill is a valuable natural resource to the City of Griffith and the broader community providing a range of formal recreational use areas, cultural experiences, natural areas and a significant visual quality. The total area of natural bushland is approximately 537 hectares.

Griffith Mayor, Councillor Doug Curran said the Plan will examine the current character, current use and future needs of the reserves and their relationship to the surrounding lands and communities within which they are located.

"The Draft PoM will establish a clear direction for future development, planning and resource management of the land by Council - Scenic Hill is owned by State of New South Wales (as Crown land) and managed by Griffith City Council under the Crown Land Management Act 2016 and the Local Government Act 1993," said Councillor Curran.

"There are limitations in relation to development on Scenic Hill due to Federal and State Government laws in relation to Crown land which means any activities, or future proposals, need to be compliant with relevant Local Government, Crown Land's legislation and Native Title considerations.

"Council is undertaking community consultation to assist with the development of the PoM for Scenic Hill and inviting the public to provide feedback in an effort to gain the community's use and appreciation of the area so that we can plan appropriately for the future of this important natural resource," he added.

The community is invited to complete the survey online at griffith.nsw.gov.au/scenichill The survey closes 18 August 2022. If you have any questions, please contact Council on 1300 176 077

Two worlds, twice the thrill – Dinosaurs take the stage at the Griffith Regional Theatre!

Bringing ancient creatures from land and sea together in one show, Erth's Prehistoric World is hitting the Griffith Regional Theatre on Saturday 23 July at 6pm.

With the perfect combination of theatrical magic and charm, this show takes the audience to the bottom of the ocean to discover ancient bio-luminescent creatures and incredible marine reptiles, and then back to dry land to witness some of the most amazing dinosaurs to have ever walked this Earth.

The company behind this production, Erth, is a team of creators, makers and performers pushing the limits of design, content and experience.

Director Scott Wright said Erth's journey into prehistoric times has provided a platform for the company to engage with children on a level that has surprised even us.

"Erth is not a company that exploits dinosaurs for commercial gain, but as a way of starting long and lasting relationships with our worldwide audiences, united in our love and wonder for the natural world," said Mr Wright.

Erth's puppetry-based theatrical productions and innovative community projects have challenged and inspired audiences for more than twenty-five years, driven by a special interest in natural history, First Nations stories and urban mythology.

By connecting with audiences young and old, Erth educates and inspires people to make an impact in the world through their own actions.

Today the company is recognised internationally as an innovator of physical and visual theatre, and a creator of brave, unbridled work for children.

Griffith Regional Theatre Manager, Marg Andrezza, said Erth is world-renowned for their theatrical magic and for pushing the limits of design, content and experience.

"People may remember their sold-out visit in 2015 with Erth's Dinosaur Zoo, where the theatre was packed with families and a lot of excited children. This show will be just as fun and awe-inspiring," she said.

"We are also putting the show on for schools on Monday 25 July, so ask your child's school if they are coming along!"

Experience the creatures of your imagination coming to life on stage in this enthralling new show - see Erth's Prehistoric World at Griffith Regional Theatre on Saturday 23 July 6pm.

Tickets are $20 for children and $35 for adults.

Tickets can be purchased by dropping into the Box Office at Neville Place Griffith, by calling the Theatre on 6962 8444 or online at griffithregionaltheatre.com.au

Message from the Mayor

"Reflection is one of the most underused yet powerful tools for success." – Richard Carlson

I was lucky enough a couple of weekends ago to attend the 2022 MLHD Excellence Awards in Wagga. Congratulations to all of the nominees and winners, especially those representing Griffith including Sarah Grant, Patient Experience Officer, Sherin George, Clinical Nurse Educator and Ellyse Willson (RN), Infection Prevention & Control.

It was an excellent night and thank you one and all for all that you do for our community.

Last week I had the pleasure of attending our local Hospital to see a lot of these wonderful caring people in action first hand.

I cannot speak highly enough of the care and attention I received and not only myself, but I also witnessed doctors, nurses and staff look after many patients and the care was exemplary. It is very easy to criticise our health care system and there are certainly aspects that could be improved, but the care and service isn't one of them.

If you see a Health Care worker or Emergency Services worker, please take the time to say thank you or maybe buy them a cup of coffee. A lot of what they do goes unnoticed and this simple gesture may brighten their day immeasurably.

Last week was NAIDOC week and I was privileged to be able to attend the Flag Raising Ceremony at Griffith City Council. The event was very well attended by the community and I would like to extend my thanks to all that came along.

This year's theme was 'Get Up, Stand Up, Show Up' and I encourage everyone to learn a little bit more about our shared history - together we can make this a better world for everyone.

Finally Council is seeking feedback on Scenic Hill for the Draft Plan of Management (PoM).

This asset needs more effort by Council and the community and we need to know what you want improved, removed or included in the PoM. This isn't an easy process, with many varying views and opinions but we need to hear them all and then make informed decisions and apply for State and Federal grants to have an area we can all be proud of.

Please take the time to have your say by heading to Council's website and completing the short survey - griffith.nsw.gov.au/scenichill Stay safe, stay well and above all else be kind.

Bye for now,

Japanese Encephalitis Help us help your town

NSW Health will be conducting blood testing in this area to understand more about the risk of Japanese Encephalitis.

Clinic details

Griffith Community Centre
1 Olympic St
Griffith NSW 2680

Mon 18 July 10am-6pm
Tue 19 July 8am-4pm
Wed 20 July 8am-4pm
Thu 21 July 10am-6pm
Fri 22 July 7am-12pm

Why?

Japanese encephalitis is a rare but potentially serious mosquito-borne disease.

By donating blood to this program, you will help us understand if mosquitoes carrying Japanese encephalitis have been present in this town. This will help inform vaccination planning for Summer 2022/23.

What's involved?

Volunteers will be asked to:

- Give a small blood sample
- Complete a 5-minute questionnaire

We anticipate that this will take 15 mins to complete. You will be informed of your individual testing results. NSW Health will be on-site to answer any of your questions on the day.

Who can take part?

People who lived in or close to between 1 January 2022 and 31 March 2022 are eligible to contribute.

People of any age are invited to come along. Children <16 must be accompanied (and have consent provided) by parent or guardian.
